Management Discussion and Analysis

Economic Overview

The world economy witnessed a major slowdown in 2012 due to the uncertainties of fiscal imbalance in many economies coupled with reduced trade and investments. The report of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) shows that the global GDP expanded at 3.2% in 2012, with average growth rates of 1.2% and 5.1% in advanced and developing economies, respectively.

Indian economy growth rate declined from 6.2% in 2011-2012 to 5% in 2012-2013, the slowest growth of the economy in a decade which was mainly due to decline in service and industrial sectors. The subdued performance of service sector was mainly due to slowdown in global economy and the decline in industrial output was due to slow down in mining, manufacturing and capital goods sector.

The reforms measures announced by the Government of India in the form of reducing fuel subsidies, implementation of big-ticket infrastructure projects, direct cash transfers of subsidies, recent changes in FDI and several regulatory reforms including the new Companies Bill, Land Acquisition Bill and the Direct Tax Code augurs well for a pick-up in growth in 2013-14.

Industry Structure and Developments

The Indian ferro alloys industry, which has completed five decades of its existence and a part of the core sector, is engaged in supplying crucial intermediaries to iron and steel industry. Ferro alloys are critical additives in the production of iron & steel and the fortune of ferro alloys industry is directly linked with the growth of iron & steel industry. India accounts for around 7-8% of the world's ferro alloys production. India emerged as a preferred supplier on account of abundant availability of key resources comprising chrome ore and manganese ore, trained and cost-effective manpower and favorable location.

The demand driver of ferro alloys consists of Crude Steel Production, Alloy and Special Steel Production and Stainless Steel Production. The product mix of ferro alloys consists of bulk ferro alloys which includes HC ferro manganese, silico manganese, ferro silicon, HC ferro chrome, charge chrome, etc. and Noble Ferro Alloys consisting of ferromolybdenum, ferro-anadium, ferrotungsten, ferro-silicon magnesium, ferro-boron and ferro-titanium.

Opportunities and Threats

The growth of ferro alloys industry is directly linked with the growth of iron and steel industry, which in turn depends on its user industry i.e. infrastructure, housing, automobile and consumer durable industries. India, at a per capita steel consumption of 60 kgs, is much below the global average of 215 kgs, thereby reflecting massive under-penetration and immense opportunities for growth, which will in turn, drive ferro alloys demand as these are key input resources for iron and steel manufacture. Moreover, with significant investments envisaged in India's infrastructure sector in the creation of capital assets including roads, bridges, airports, seaports, flyovers and railway tracks, opportunity of utilising special steel by power and automobiles sector, demand for steel and hence, ferro alloys will grow.

Electrical energy is one of the major inputs in production of ferro alloys and high power tariff is a threat for the ferro alloys industry. Apart from electrical energy, the industry faces challenges of acquiring good quality raw materials like high grade ores and coke.

As regards the power cost, ferro alloys producers are now focusing on setting up their captive power units. This will reduce the input cost and ensures continuous supply of power to the downstream project. In the long run this effort of backward integration shall eventually help the domestic ferro alloys producers to compete in the international market. Moreover with India remaining as one of the largest producers of manganese ore, there is adequate availability of this resource for the production of manganese based ferro alloys.

Further, it is hoped that the government would recognise the challenges arising out of periodic administered price increase of power and input materials which hamper the competitiveness of this industry and take steps to address them urgently to enable the ferro alloys producers to compete in the domestic as well as international markets.

Management Discussion and Analysis

Risks and Concerns

The cost-effective availability and quality of key raw material resources is a global challenge. The Company is maintaining a healthy position for key raw materials having arrangements with domestic and international ore suppliers. The Company has access to coking and thermal coal mines owned by the group Company.

Electricity comprises a key cost component in the total operating cost structure and an inability to manage this might impact the Company's operations. The 30 MW captive power plant enables the Company to emerge self-reliant in its power needs and reduce dependence on the expensive grid electricity.

The Company's sales may in the future be concentrated in a few markets as a consequence of continued global slow down, thereby negatively impacting its operations. Currently the Company's sales are well-spread to key consumption centers across the globe. The Company presently caters to the needs of several multinational customers, thereby mitigating concentration risks.

The Company deals in sizeable amount of foreign exchange in import of raw materials and exports of finished products. A comprehensive and robust forex policy has been formulated for insulating the Company by hedging foreign exchange exposure.

Segment-Wise Reporting

The Company is mainly in the business segment of manufacturing & sales of ferro alloys and trading in iron & steel products. The key financial of the business segments including secondary segment details identified as the geographical segment based on the location of customers within India and outside India is given in notes no. 33 to the Annual Accounts. The Company also generates power from its captive power plant, which is entirely consumed in the manufacture of ferro alloys without any sale to third parties.

Internal Controls and Systems

The Company has implemented proper and adequate system of internal controls commensurate with its size and nature of operations to provide reasonable assurance that all assets are safeguarded, transactions are authorised, recorded and reported properly, applicable statutes and corporate policies are duly complied with. The Company has an Audit Committee with majority of Independent Directors as members. The committee periodically reviews significant audit findings, adequacy of internal control and compliance with Accounting Standards, amongst others. The Company also takes quarterly compliance certificate in respect of various applicable laws from the concerned departmental heads and place the same before the board.

Industrial Relations and Human Resources

Human resource is the Company's principal asset. The Company provides continual training to its staff to help them upgrade their skills and seeks to balance individual aspirations with Company goals. The Company is an equal opportunities employer. Industrial relation at the factory continued to remain cordial. As on the date of this Report the Company has 256 employees on its payroll.
